

What am I?

Monday's
Clue

I am a favorite food of many people. I wonder if I am one of your favorite foods.

I come from a bean that grows on trees in places such as Africa, Brazil, and Mexico.

What am I?

Tuesday's
Clue

People once used these beans as money.

For example, people might trade 5 beans for a dozen eggs; or they might trade 10 beans for a rabbit; or they might spend 3 beans for fabric to make clothes.

People began to grind the beans and make a bitter, but popular, drink from them. Later, they added sugar to the drink. That made the drink even more popular.

C-6

Over time, people found new ways to grind, mix, and heat them that made them even better. The beans became more like forms of me that you would recognize today.

Now you can find me in sweets such as cake, candy, and cookies. People still use me in a hot drink.

What am I?

Friday's
Clue

In the 1930s, a woman named Ruth Wakefield put some bits of me into her favorite cookie dough. She had invented a cookie that would become famous!

What am I?

Bonus
Clue

People of long ago used me as medicine. Scientists today say that I can be healthy for you, as long as you don't eat too much.
