"Mom!" Sarah yelled, running into the house.

"What is it?" her mother asked, looking up from her book.

"There's a baby deer in the backyard. Can we feed it?" Sarah ran for the bowl of fruit on the counter and grabbed an apple.

Her mom met her in the kitchen. "Sarah, that's not really a good idea. That deer lives in the wild. If it gets used to people feeding it, it won't know how to survive on its own."

Sarah sighed and put the apple back. "Can I at least pet it?"

"That's not what I meant." Her mother brought Sarah to the back door and looked out at the fawn lying in the grass. "If you pet the fawn, she might like it. She might hang around here looking for you."

"That doesn't sound bad at all. She could be like my pet."

"But deer aren't meant to be pets. And what happens if she wanders off into someone else's yard or into the woods where there's a hunter. She won't know not to fear people. Do you understand what I'm saying?"

Sarah looked out at the deer. "She might think all humans are nice. She wouldn't know to stay away from hunters or even cars if she sees people in them."

"Exactly." Her mother put her hand on Sarah's shoulder.

"What if her mother doesn't come get her? How will she learn to find food and how to stay out of danger?"

"Animals are born with natural instincts. That's why we shouldn't do things that go against those instincts, like feed them."

"I wish she could stay here."

"I know you do," her mother said. "Why don't you get my camera? You can take pictures of the fawn. Then you'll always have them to remember her."

"Okay." Sarah ran to her mom's room and got the camera from the dresser drawer. When she came back, she opened the back door very quietly and turned off the camera's flash. "It's light enough to not

Sarah took pictures of both deer as they ate leaves and finally walked away. "I think they'll come back and visit again?"

"Maybe. But now you at least have pictures to remember them. Let's go print them."

Sarah nodded. "I can't wait to see how they came out."
