The kakapo is a special kind of parrot that lives in New Zealand. It is the only type of parrot that cannot fly. They are also the heaviest type of parrot.

Kakapos have green and yellow feathers. Their feathers help them blend into the trees and the forest floor, where they live. These birds are nocturnal, which means they come out at night. They like to eat roots, leaves, and fruit. Kakapos are also very good at climbing trees, even though they can't fly.

Write the number of syllables on the line next to each word.
