Turkey Day With a New Friend

by Roy Kindelberger

I travel alone close to dusk.

Snow, drifts floats, I stick my tongue out for a taste

My watering mouth, stops,
a wild bird gobbles, wiggle its wings.

Dinner?

Only, not I sigh,
I take the turkey's wing
we walk home.

My new friend and I enjoy each other.
"Gobble, gobble."
