Sophie picked the last three apples on the tree and put them in a basket.

“An apple for Grace, an apple for Olivia, and an apple for me,” she told Dad.

Dad smiled and drove Sophie to the sleepover.

Grace and Olivia came to the door.

Sophie held out the basket. “Surprise!”

“Apples!” Grace said.

“Big apples,” Olivia said.

“They were the last three apples on my tree,” Sophie said.

Grace’s little brother Mark came into the room. “Wow, those apples look good.”

“They were the last three apples on Sophie’s tree,” said Grace.

“Oh,” said Mark. “That means there’s no apple for me.”

“You can have the third apple, Mark,” Sophie said.

“But that’s your apple, Sophie,” Olivia said.

“That’s okay,” Sophie said. “Friends share with friends.”

Grace frowned and whispered to Olivia and Mark. They whispered back. Then they smiled at Sophie.

“We want to share, too,” Olivia said. “We want to share with you.”

“With me?” Sophie asked. “How?”

“We’ll ask my mom to help us make apple muffins,” Grace said. “It’ll be fun, and then there will be enough apples for everyone.”
