Anna was working on a new puzzle. It had pictures of fairies, unicorns, and magicians.

She fit a piece into the puzzle. The piece filled in a fairy wing.

“I’m almost done, Kitty!” Anna smiled at her kitten. She just needed to put one more piece into the puzzle – the unicorn horn.

Anna looked down but the last puzzle piece wasn’t there.

A puzzle piece fell out of the box.

“You found the last piece, Kitty,” Anna said. “I must have left it in the box. I’m sorry I blamed you, Kitty.”

Kitty came back and sat next to Anna.

Anna popped the last piece into the puzzle. She gave a big smile. “I finished the puzzle!”

Kitty meowed.

Anna laughed. “I mean we finished the puzzle.”

And she and Kitty stood back and admired their hard work.
