I stopped in the hardware store and asked the man at the counter for a yellow hammer. He said he only had black hammers in stock. You'd think every hardware store in the Yellowhammer State would have lots of yellow hammers, but I guess not.

Have you ever dreamed of being an astronaut? I have. That's why I signed up for U.S. Space Camp in Huntsville. They have a rocket simulator that made me feel like I was really in outer space.

Now I'm headed off to one of the country's most famous racetracks, Talladega Superspeedway. Maybe they'll let me race my red convertible on the track. I know I could beat all those NASCAR drivers, if I can only find my way to there.

Do you know which state I'm visiting?
Answer: Alabama
