"Six."

"Did you find blue yet?" Jayden tried to peek at Allie's paper.

"Hey, no copying." Allie walked away.

Jayden sighed as the tour guide talked about the different kinds of trees. He wasn't the least bit interested. He just wanted to finish the assignment.

"How are you doing, Jayden?" Ms. Snyder asked.

"Okay, I guess. But what in nature is blue or purple?" He shrugged. "My pen has blue ink. Does that count? I'm outside using it."

"Sorry, Jayden. Keep looking."

"I am. All I see are two blank spots on my paper because I can't think of the answers."

"You'd find more colors if you spent less time focusing on your paper and more time looking around you." Ms. Snyder walked away, leaving Jayden thinking this was one assignment he wasn't going to get an A on.

The tour guide started talking about fish, and Jayden picked his eyes up from his paper. He heard the tinkling of a small stream flowing next to him. "The water woods. Leaves littered the ground. Jayden saw Allie up ahead and rushed over to her. "I found six colors, but I still can't find purple."

"You aren't looking hard enough."

"Yes, I am."

"Really?" She lowered her eyes to the ground. Reddish leaves surrounded them.

Jayden picked one up. "These are red, not—" He stopped when he saw the back of the leaf. "The back is purple."

"Yup." Allie walked away.

"So, Jayden," Ms. Snyder said, "did you find all the colors?"

"Yeah. But I bet there are even more. I'm going to look." He continued turning over leaves, trying to find even more colors in nature's rainbow.
